Tobacco Companies Don't Want You. They Want Your Kids.

Today, in the U.S., 1,000 people will die from smoking and 3,000 kids will try smoking for the first time. If you don't smoke by the time you're 18, chances are you won't. Tobacco companies know this, so they spend billions marketing to your kids every year.

They call this recruiting replacement smokers.
WE CALL IT CORRUPT.
